Death Toll Ahead of a Year Ago

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
As millions of motorists crammed the nation's highways at the close of the Labor Day holiday, a spokesman for the National Safety Council said traffic deaths were running slightly ahead of the pace of a year ago.

At 7 a.m. EDT today a total of 439 persons had died in highway accidents across the country since the start of the three-day holiday weekend at 6 p.m. Friday.

An Associated Press survey tallied 518 in a nonholiday period of equal length starting Aug. 16.

Howard Pyle, president of the safety council, said the major concern was "that the heavy going is still ahead of us. The late start home that is common to holiday travelers, combined with crowds of weary returning vacationers and a bit too much to drink by some drivers will aggravate highway hazards."

Eight North Dakota teenagers, killed Sunday while returning from a party, added to the mounting toll of Labor Day fatalities.

The four boys and four girls were returning in two cars from a farewell party for an Army draftee when the vehicles collided on Interstate 94, west of Jamestown, N.D.

The highest traffic toll for a Labor Day holiday was 636 in 1966.

The lowest death count for the three-day weekend since World War II was set in 1946, when 246 persons were killed.

A four-day celebration of Independence Day in 1967 set a record for the highest death count for any summer holiday period. A total of 732 persons were killed.

At 7 a.m. EDT today 27 persons had drowned and 13 had died in boating accidents during the Labor Day break.

Four Killed in Florida Plane Crash

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Four young men were killed Sunday when their light plane crashed in a Clewiston church yard, and four other persons were reported missing on a night flight from Bimini to Fort Lauderdale.

Killed at Clewiston, on Lake Okeechobee's south shore, were Paul Lack, 30, the pilot; Jack Belcher, 16; Barney Lott, 21; and Jackie Story, 17, all of Clewiston.

Sheriff's Deputy Sermon Dyess said the plane's right wing hit a 45-foot pole atop a truck stop service station where Lack worked part time.

"We don't know whether he had engine failure or what. There's no way to ever know," Dyess said.

The Coast Guard began a search for the four occupants of the missing plane, a Piper Cub due at Fort Lauderdale at 8:30 p.m.

Two of the occupants were identified as John Graham of Miami and James Gowan of North Miami. A Coast Guard spokesman said the other two were unidentified females.

Ground-breaking Ceremonies

GOTEMBA, Japan (AP) — Ground-breaking ceremonies were held today at the foot of Mt. Fuji at the site of the world Boy Scout jamboree to be held in August 1971.

Officials said 20,000 scouts from 120 countries will attend the jamboree.

Loan Approved for Phillips

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An insured loan of $397,000 to a group of 500 farm and rural families in Phillips County has been approved, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D. Ark., said Saturday.

Fulbright said the money would be used to develop a rural water system to serve more than 2,500 persons in Barton, Poplar Grove, and Lexa areas of the county northwest of West Helena.

Black Power Wants to Set Up Own Nation, Army, Political Party

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Delegates to the third national conference on Black Power have voted to support the establishment of separate black nation, army and political party.

But conference officials said they were not necessarily committed to carrying out the recommendations approved Sunday by the some 3,000 delegates at the close of the four-day conference. The recommendation for a separate black nation in five Southern states came out of a workshop on politics headed by Ron Karenga, leader of a black nationalist group in California.

8,000 Killed by Earthquake in Tehran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iran observed a national day of mourning today for more than 8,000 persons killed in an earthquake that devastated 750 square miles in the northeast part of the country.

As aftershocks continued, officials said at least 8,222 persons had been killed, 2,692 were injured and about 100,000 made homeless by the catastrophe Saturday.

A government spokesman said no foreigners were among the victims.

Destruction of the region's underground water system raised a new threat to the thousands of survivors housed in tent cities.

The army sent convoys of water tankers and food to the area.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi personally directed relief work from Tehran and sent Prime Minister Amir Abbas Hoveida to the disaster zone along with five of his Cabinet ministers.

The Shah planned to tour the region Tuesday. He was expected to order a large-scale reconstruction program as he did in the Ghasvin area after a major quake there in 1962.

The center of the quake was believed to have been near the village of Kakhak, which was leveled. At least 1,400 of the 2,000 inhabitants were reported killed or wounded. In the village of Blaz-Abad, at least half the 2,000 residents were reported killed.

More than 30 towns and villages were devastated. Officials said most of the victims were napping in their mud-brick homes when the quake struck during the hot afternoon. Large numbers of children were playing in the streets at the time and were spared.

Screams for help guided rescuers to survivors buried in the wreckage of their homes.

Earlier in the day those on a holiday outing will have a chance to hear the Nov. 5 general election for the 1st District congressional post being vacated by Rep. E. C. "Took" Cathings.

Bill Alexander of Osceola, an easy winner in the Democratic primaries, was slated to speak at 1:45 p.m. and Guy Newcomb, also from Osceola, was to talk at 3 p.m. Newcomb was unopposed for the GOP nomination.

Rockefeller will get in some campaigning in northwest Arkansas before making the trip to Reitor. The governor is due to appear at the third annual Lake Beaver Water Festival near Rogers. He will be accompanied by beauty queens from Mexico, El Salvador, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Honduras, Guatemala and Ecuador.

Crank spoke at the water festival Saturday, telling an audience of about 200 persons that he could not afford such a program as bringing foreign beauty queens to the festival. Crank said he believed there already was plenty of beauty in Arkansas.

Crank said his first order of business, if elected, would be to "get Arkansas' financial house in order."

He charged that the Rockefeller administration was spending $12 million annually more than it was receiving in revenues.

Crank drew laughter when he mentioned the governor having changed the locks at the governor's office by saying, "There's really nothing in this office that anyone would want. Everything's over in the Tower Building."

Russia Denys Plan to Take Over Romania

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Concern in administration quarters over Romania appeared somewhat eased today following a reported Kremlin denial of rumors it plans to invade another East European ally.

Informants said Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin brought the Soviet disclaimer to Secretary of State Dean Rusk Saturday night, in effect responding to President Johnson's public warning in a San Antonio speech Friday.

The informants stressed that the Moscow envoy had not given a flat commitment or assurance that Russian troops would not move into Romania as they did against Czechoslovakia Aug. 20.

But they welcomed the response as cooling off some of the Washington fears which had soared over the weekend.

Afraid fresh reports of Soviet military movements along Romania's borders, Johnson added to his prepared speech a reference to the Czech invasion and a warning: "Let no one unleash the dogs of war."

"There are even rumors late this evening that this (Czech invasion) action might be repeated elsewhere in the days ahead in Eastern Europe," Johnson said.

Rusk was said to have passed the President's words to Dobrynin during a 50-minute State Department meeting about the time of the speech and heard back from the ambassador the next night.

In the interval the State Department called in envoys from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations for a hurried look at developments on the other side of the Iron Curtain.

The State Department announced afterwards that the continued occupation of Czechoslovakia by large numbers of Russian troops causes a change in Europe's East-West military lineup "of significance to the security of the United States and its allies."

"In the light of these events we are reviewing with our allies what the implications may be for existing arrangements to provide for our common security," the U.S. announcement said.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and his running mate, Lt. Gov. Maurice Britt, will get in the first blows for the Republicans. They are scheduled for back-to-back addresses at 6:15 p.m.

The Democratic nominees — Rep. Marion H. Crank for governor and Rep. Bill G. Wells for lieutenant governor — will speak at 7 p.m.

Liberals Named by Czech Reds in Spite of Soviet Occupation

By PETER REHAK
Associated Press Writer
PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist party elected a new high command made up mostly of liberals Sunday despite the Soviet occupation of the country.

It was not clear whether the new presidium elected by the central committee had been cleared by the Soviets, who invaded the country Aug. 20 to stop the liberalization drive begun by party chief Alexander Dubcek.

A communique said Dubcek, who retained his post as party leader, told the central committee that withdrawal of Soviet troops from cities and towns had begun. But in Bratislava, the capital of Slovakia, mass arrests were reported as Soviet troops maintained their hold on public buildings and offices.

Only two members of the new 21-man presidium are known to be pro-Soviet conservatives. They are the former leader of the Slovak party, Vasil Blazek, and Jan Pillar, a former deputy premier.

The central committee at the same time enlarged itself by 87 members to a total of 194. The new members were delegates to the party congress that had been scheduled for Sept. 9 in which Dubcek was expected to oust his conservative opponents.

It is not known yet whether the congress will take place.

In Washington, meanwhile, informed sources said Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin told Secretary of State Dean Rusk Saturday that the Soviets did not plan to invade Romania.

Recent reports of Soviet and Hungarian troop buildups along the Romanian border had led to speculation that the Soviets were planning to subdue another restless ally by force.

In a series of weekend speeches, Romanian Premier Ion Gheorghe Maurer rejected Soviet criticism of Romania's support for Czechoslovakia.

"Nobody can claim that we have deviated from socialism," Maurer said in answer to Soviet charges that his party was playing into the hands of "counter-revolutionaries" by backing the Dubcek regime. He called for a speedy withdrawal of the occupation troops from Czechoslovakia and said the Romanian people and their leaders were acting in "unshakable unity."

Most of the nation enjoyed clear and pleasant weather today on the last day of the Labor Day holiday weekend. Rain continued, however, over the upper Ohio Valley and Great Lakes region and thunderstorms rumbled over Florida and Texas.

A thunderstorm dumped nearly an inch of rain at West Palm Beach, Fla., Sunday night and Cotulla, Texas soaked up an inch and three quarters during a series of showers.

Scattered showers also moved across the Northwestern states as cool air pushed in from the north.

The interior of northern California got relief from its persistent heat wave Sunday, but the southern part of the state continued to swelter. Needles, Calif., baked in 91 degree heat before dawn today.

Grand Forks, N.D., recorded a chilly 43 at the same time.

Humphrey Raps Street Violence

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey opens his campaign for president by riding in a Labor Day parade today, after drawing applause in his hometown Sunday with a denunciation of "militant, strident, violent" persons who "take to the streets to settle their problems."

The Democratic presidential nominee accepted the invitation of the city's labor leaders to ride up Fifth Avenue today rather than risk the possibility of slim crowds in the traditional Democratic campaign opener in Detroit's Cadillac Square.

But the vice president faces the possibility of antiwar demonstrations in a state where the Democratic senatorial nominee, Paul O'Dwyer, has refused to support the party's national ticket. O'Dwyer said Sunday he would march in the parade but not with Humphrey.

Several hundred demonstrators, shouting "Stop the war," and "Dump the Hump!" gathered outside Humphrey's New York hotel Sunday night, but police led his cavalcade into the garage via a side entrance out of sight of the protestors.

Before leaving Minneapolis, the vice president issued a statement calling on Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon to join him in serving notice "on North Vietnam that we support the efforts of our negotiators" in Paris.

Humphrey said the North Vietnamese should understand there is no chance "that partisan debate in America might create dissension here which would lead to a weakening of American determination either on the battlefield or at the negotiating table."

After today's appearance, Humphrey returns to his lakeside home in Waverly, Minn., for a week of

Apology Is Demanded From Crank

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP) — The Rev. R. J. Hampton of Camden has requested that Democratic gubernatorial candidate Marion H. Crank apologize publicly to him for charging that Hampton had been "bought off" by the Republican party.

Hampton, a Negro newspaper publisher and minister, recently announced that he was leaving the Democratic party and joining the GOP. Hampton had been scheduled to go to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago last week as an alternate delegate.

Crank was asked at a news conference Friday if he believed Hampton had been "bought off." The candidate replied, "Why certainly."

Hampton said Saturday he was "very much disturbed" by Crank's statement and that his attorneys were looking into the remark.

"I deal with a lot of people and certainly when my character is attacked like that, it certainly endangers my future and that of my family," Hampton said. "I think that somewhere this thing has to stop."

"His statement is simply further confirmation of what I said in coming over to the Republican party: that the old guard leadership is incapable of understanding and meeting the problems of today," Hampton said.

"No attack of this sort would have ever been made on any one of my standing in the church and in the business community if they were white," Hampton said. He said the remark was "typical of the attitude" Crank had toward the Negro in general.

Hampton called the remark a "scandalous charge."

"I say to Mr. Crank that Negroes will freely offer their support to the party that shows it can deal understandingly with the challenges before us today."

He said Crank's remark was "typical" of what he termed "one of the disillusioning aspects of the Democratic party leadership — that is, that they think no Negro has any character or is capable of participating in politics and government of his own free will."

Odell Pollard, chairman of the state GOP, sent Crank a telegram asking if he had made the statement which he said "extremely concerned" him.

Pollard said his concern was not that it was a statement by one man but "because it is an insult to every Negro in Arkansas and to the Republican party."

Lynn Davis, the GOP candidate for Secretary of State, said Sunday that it is "obviously" very painful for Mr. Crank to

Says Nation Can Wipe Out All Poverty

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, in his annual Labor Day statement, says Americans "must cut new trails to human justice—toward insuring that all citizens, not just some, have full opportunity to live and work in self-respect."

The statement, issued over the weekend, said the nation has "only scratched the surface" in its strides toward human dignity. But it ended on an optimistic note:

"Never before has a nation been so well-equipped to wipe out poverty, ignorance, want and other ugly forms of human misery," Johnson said.

"Today, in a time of the affluent many, labor's fight, America's fight, must be on (sic) the disadvantaged few—the victims of racism, poor education, no skills, language barriers, hunger."

The chief executive attended two church services Sunday—shaking hands with parishioners filling up the aisle for communion at St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic Church, Stone-wall, and later taking communion himself with Mrs. Johnson and daughter Lynda Robb at St. Barnabas Episcopal Church, Fredericksburg.

At the Catholic church, just a couple of miles from the LBJ Ranch, the Rev. Wunibald Schneider prayed for "unity in this country and peace in Vietnam." At St. Barnabas, 16 miles to the west, the Rev. William Campbell prayed for "all those behind the Iron Curtain and especially those in Czechoslovakia."

There was no word on when Johnson, who has spent most of the past month at his ranch, would return to Washington. Congress sets up shop again Wednesday after recessing for the national political conventions.

Nixon Lashes Treatment of Working Man

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon has lashed out at the Democratic administration as having "broken faith with the American working man."

Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, said in a Labor Day message released here:

"In the last two years the average American worker has been on a government-operated treadmill. New taxes and rising prices have more than wiped out all the pay raises he has won since 1965."

This year, Nixon said, "the 10 per cent surtax was added on all incomes, and prices are now rising at more than 4 per cent annually . . . and these prices work hardships on the poor and the pensioners."

"These statistics are more than a question of economics; translated into reality, they become a grave question of jus-

Justice, and a matter of right and wrong.

"The hidden tax of inflation will weigh heavily on the final balance sheet against this administration," Nixon said.

St. Paul Is Quiet After Rioting

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Police described as "extremely quiet" Sunday the predominantly Negro area of this city torn by violence the previous two nights.

Authorities said they were generally staying out of the area—scene of disorder, sniping and looting which began late Friday after a teen-age dance.

The two nights' violence resulted in injuries to 22 policemen and 30 other persons and the arrest of 15 persons. Property damage was generally light, confined mostly to broken windows except for three fires Friday night which were quickly put out.

All of the injured policemen—which included four who were shot—were listed in satisfactory condition at local hospitals or had been treated and released.

The St. Paul Human and Civil Rights Commission launched an investigation into the violence while praising the "excellent manner" in which police acted in the disorders.

Monday, September 2, 1968

Charles Williams Jr., commission chairman, said his group would talk with individuals and group leaders of the Negro community to try to find the cause of the trouble.

The violence began when two off-duty policemen tried to disarm a youth they said was "waving a gun around" in a men's washroom at the City Auditorium—scene of the dance.

Officers said they were attacked by other youths and after they held them off at gunpoint a crowd formed and began throwing rocks, bottles and chairs at the officers and other policemen called as reinforcements.

The disorders quickly spread throughout the area bordered by University and Summit avenues, where most of the city's 10,000 Negroes live.

The disorders were finally quelled early Saturday but broke out again that night in the same area. Most of the violence involved breaking store windows, looting and some sniping fire from buildings in the area.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Television viewers with sharp eyes for details can sometimes foretell the twists of plots from the way the series, sets—even the players—are dressed.

If, for instance, one sees a plane in flight, or when the hero is shown boarding or leaving a commercial flight, it is likely that somewhere in the background will be the name or insignia of an airline.

Thus, if there is visible on the screen some real carrier's identification, it is practically certain that the plane will be involved in no mishaps—not even encounter mild air turbulence. Or that there will be any active skulduggery aboard, like madmen holding the passengers in terror or stealing secret papers from trusted up couriers.

Airlines are sensitive about such things, feeling that they already have enough problems with passengers who fly with clenched fists.

So when the viewer sees a fictitious name on the side of a plane, there is a good chance some exciting action will take place in transit.

One action series has a hero who almost weekly takes a plane for some place or another to save the good side. A permanent set in the series, a Hollywood studio, consists of a complete reproduction of a passenger section of a plane, with one side cut away so the cameras may shoot the interior. The initials of a widely advertised international carrier are all over the place—on the back of every seat, on the overhead racks, on the sides of the plane.

All, however, are easily removed—just in case something nasty is going to happen aloft.

Auto manufacturers are sensitive, too. Heavy advertisers in television, they dislike programs using auto accidents in plots. Agents of "The FBI" always tool around in the latest models of their automobile sponsor's product. And while it is an action-loaded series, there are a minimum of stories in which that speeding car caroms off a mountain road or smashes into a tree.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. BERT PEEPLES

Miss Glenda May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winfred May of San Antonio, Texas, formerly of Hope, became the bride of Bert Peoples Saturday evening, August 31, in the San Pedro Church of Christ in San Antonio. Miss May is the granddaughter of Mrs. L. C. May of Hope. Mrs. Winfred May is the former Sarah L. Simmons.

Rev. Jim Dobbs officiated. Gary Quinn of Waco, Texas, and Terry Thompson of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, lighted the candles. A choral group from San Antonio furnished the wedding music with soloist Richard Cochran singing "The Twelfth of Never" and a duet by Pat Downs and Richard Cochran singing

"One Hand, One Heart."

The bride wore an A-line gown of peau de sole under organza featuring a lace bodice and bell sleeves re-embroidered with seed pearls. Her flowing train was of the same material and re-embroidered in seed pearls. Her veil was made of flowers with pearls atop illusion. Her bouquet was white stephanotis and carnations around a cluster of sweet-heart roses.

Miss Linda Warley of Austin, Texas, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Ann Keeley of Abilene, Texas, Miss Jeanette Gill of Putman City, Oklahoma, Miss Debbie Thompson of Oklahoma City, and Miss Carol Simmons, cousin of the bride from Kilgore, Texas. The maid of honor wore a gown of deep pink peau de sole under matching organza with a matching bow hat. She carried three long stem pink rosebuds. The other honor attendants wore matching gowns of light pink peau de sole under matching organza. They also had bow hats. They each carried single long stem red rosebuds. Sherri May, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a gown matching to that of the bridesmaids. She wore a wrist corsage of red sweetheart roses and carried a basket of red rose petals. Bobby Campbell was ring bearer.

Maurice Peoples served his brother as best man. Groomsman were Deryl Boakley of Mercury, Texas, Jerry Florence of Nacadoches, Texas, Larry May, brother of the bride of San Antonio. Mrs. May, mother of the bride, wore a blue dress with a rosebud corsage. Mrs. Peoples, mother of the groom, wore a pink dress with a wrist corsage of rosebuds. Mr. and Mrs. May entertained with a reception in the church following the ceremony.

The couple will be at home in Abilene, Texas, where both are enrolled in Abilene Christian College.

Transplant Recipients Doing Well

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The four recipients of transplanted organs of a 20-year-old shooting victim were listed in satisfactory condition today.

A spokesman at Methodist Hospital said the heart recipient, William C. Carroll, 50, of Scottsdale, Ariz., and the lung recipient, William J. Whaley, 39, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., sat up in bed and took nourishment Sunday.

Thomas A. Stevenson, 22, of Houston, and William C. Kaiser, 41, of Odessa, Tex., the two kidney recipients, were making excellent progress, the spokesman said.

All have been visited by their families.

The organs were transferred Saturday by five teams totaling more than 60 physicians, nurses and aides.

Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, who led the mass operation, said it was the first time that four organs from one donor had been transplanted.

The donor was Nelva Lou Hernandez, wife of a Houston warehouse foreman. Her corneas also were removed and placed in an eye bank.

The heart transplant was the 36th in the world and the 11th in Houston.

Dr. Denton A. Cooley headed a team at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital that performed Houston's 10 other transplants. Of the seven surviving Cooley patients, two have been discharged and are working in Houston.

DeBakey developed the mechanical heart pump, which allows a damaged heart to heal after surgery. The heart transplant was his first.

Procedures for the operation had been worked out for six months to take advantage of the situation when it developed, DeBakey said. The simultaneous operations were completed in 3 1/2 hours.

Members of Cooley's team advised the surgical groups. Arthur Hernandez, the donor's husband, told police his wife shot herself accidentally in the head after they had a domestic quarrel Friday night.

Mr. Hernandez died about 12:30 a.m. Saturday. Her husband gave permission for the transplant operations, which began about 3:30 a.m. and were completed at 6:30 a.m.

Kaiser underwent a kidney transplant May 5 at St. Luke's, but the organ failed to function. The donor was a teen-aged boy whose heart also was transplanted. The heart recipient lived 54 hours.

Ike Continues to Show Improvement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors reported today that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is continuing to make favorable progress against his seventh heart attack.

In a medical bulletin issued at 10 a.m., EDT, doctors of the Army's Walter Reed Hospital reported:

"Gen. Eisenhower has had a good night. His progress continued to be favorable."

The five-star general, 77, was stricken by his latest attack on Aug. 16.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

CART BEFORE THE HORSE

Dear Helen: Mary and I shared an apartment while we were getting our Masters Degrees at the university. We are both 25, and liked the arrangement, though we agreed it might not end in marriage.

However, we were so compatible that we have decided it might work out permanently.

Here's my problem. As soon as I proposed marriage to Mary, she moved out. She says I must "date" her for six months, as if I hadn't lived with her for a year, so that when we marry, she'll feel MARRIED, not just legally lived with. She says otherwise we'd be drifting into a situation that we should have to strive for.

Her alternative is to get married right now, but live in separate apartments for six months. She's got a crazy idea that our relationship and keep us from taking each other for granted.

What's with her anyway?—LARRY

Dear Larry: What's with her is that your thoroughly modern Mary hasn't tossed away her thoroughly upright upbringing after all. She wants to be wooed. For six months, she'd like the horse before the cart—a young man ringing the door bell rather than turning a key in the lock—before you gallop off into the sunset. I think you'll have a better marriage if you humor her. (And I doubt it takes six months!)

Happy romancing!—H.

Dear Helen: A friend and I were discussing announcements—wedding, graduation, etc. She said she'd love to send announcements of her daughter's wedding to friends who had known her as a child, but she didn't want them to feel obligated about gifts. At graduation time, we face this same problem.

A "no gifts" notation would be gauche. We could write individual notes, of course, but this brings up the same difficulties, even if we had the time.—ANY IDEAS?

Dear Any: Casual friends need not feel obligated about gifts when they receive announcement cards. A note of congratulations and best wishes is sufficient.

A good rule is: Cards to those you think would be truly interested, and hope they know this etiquette rule. If not, better you get a few extra gifts than risk slighting a friend.—H.

P.S. I'm glad you aren't like the fellow who wrote: "I sent graduation announcements and only about half the people showed down presents. Would it be okay to send second notices?"—H.

Dear Helen: Re the Mexican border prisoner, whose husband forced her into white slavery: Perhaps it was just a yarn, but I'm the last to believe such things don't happen. Her happy ending renewed my faith that any condition can be overcome . . . and reminded me of a long ago happening:

I first saw this young woman when I was in nurses' training. She came in with an induced abortion. Every few months thereafter she was back. Each time I saw her she was a little more lethargic and looked more worn out.

She volunteered no information. Abortion cases were by no means uncommon in the wards. We asked no questions.

Once, I stayed with her while she came out of the anesthetic. She became profane, abusive and violently defensive, and it took a lot of struggle on my part to keep her under control.

By the time I got her awake, she remembered the fight and apologized. Then she told me her husband beat and abused her, and forced her to abort every time she became pregnant. He wouldn't allow contraceptives. Obviously she was a slave to fear of him. It helped her to unload. She seemed to finally realize somebody cared and understood. I graduated from training and went to work at the same hospital. One evening I worked a couple of extra hours in the nursery, and took the babies out at feeding time. All mothers are fun to work with, but on that evening, one mother seemed to stand out from the others because she was so beautiful and alive.

When I gave her the baby, she said, "You don't recognize me, do you?" She explained she had finally broken away from her husband and married again. She didn't say how, and I didn't ask, but I'll never forget the happiness on her face: Beauty from ashes in two years.

It does happen, no matter how sordid the story is. I'm sure the great healer of mankind is "Someone cares."—PEG

Brock's Base Fights Last Night Stealing Helps Cards

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National League pennant race appears to be on its last legs today but front-running St. Louis still has speed to burn.

Swift Lou Brock stole third base in the 11th inning Sunday and then loped home on Ron Davis' sacrifice fly, giving the Cardinals a 3-2 victory over the New York Mets that pushed their league lead to 13 1/2 games.

Los Angeles knocked off second place San Francisco 3-2 on Bill Singer's five-hitter and Philadelphia tripped third place Cincinnati 4-3 on Roberto Pena's ninth inning single as the race moved into the September stretch.

Ron Santo's two-run homer carried Bill Hands and the Chicago Cubs to a 2-0 victory over Houston and Hank Aaron's run-scoring double in the 11th game Atlanta an 8-7 nod over Pittsburgh in other NL games.

Detroit trimmed Baltimore 7-3, Boston downed Washington 7-4, New York beat Cleveland 5-1, Oakland took California 5-2 and Chicago nipped Minnesota 5-4 in American League action.

The Cardinals pushed over the winning run at New York without benefit of a hit. Shortstop Bud Harrelson booted Brock's leadoff grounder in the 11th and Curt Flood sacrificed, Brock then pulled his 43rd theft of the year and scored without drawing a throw on Davis' drive to left.

Larry Jaster picked up the victory in relief for a 9-11 mark. Singer, 10-15, fell behind 1-0 on Jim Hart's second inning homer, then took charge, retiring 16 Giants in order in one stretch while Los Angeles moved in front with a two-run fourth inning rally. Willie Davis' double keyed the comeback, with Bob Bailey's sacrifice fly sending in the go-ahead run.

A walk and Ken Boyer's triple gave the Dodgers a 3-1 lead in the eighth before the Giants closed the gap on Hart's sacrifice fly in the ninth.

Gary Sutherland doubled with two out in the ninth and scored on Pena's single, giving the Phillies a sweep of their three-game weekend set with Cincinnati. The Reds had tied it in the top of the ninth on a two-out two-run homer by Johnny Bench.

Rookie Jerry Johnson went the distance for the Phils, yielding six hits and squaring his record at 2-2.

Santo, who smacked two homers for the Cubs Saturday, broke a scoreless deadlock in the seventh with his 23rd circuit. Hands, 15-8, made it stand up, scattering five hits on the way to his fourth shutout of the season.

Sonny Jackson poked a pinch single in the 11th at Pittsburgh and streaked home from first on Aaron's two-out double. The Pirates had struck for three runs in the eighth to send the game into overtime, Bill Mazeroski capping the rally with a two-run single.

McLain Gets Rubber Game, 26th Win

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

As the days dwindle down to a precious few, it begins to look like Baltimore's September song will be a sad one after all.

The Orioles arrived in Detroit Friday for a three-game series, six games behind the American League leading Tigers and full of hope.

They left Detroit Sunday seven games behind and with one eye on the calendar and the other on the scoreboard. Baltimore now needs help from the rest of the league to catch the front runners, after dropping two out of the three games.

Denny McLain won the rubber game of the series Sunday, beating the Orioles 7-3 for their 27th victory of the year and starting a triple play that might have signaled the last stirring of the Orioles for 1968.

In other American League action Sunday, Chicago edged Minnesota 5-4, New York dropped Cleveland 5-1, Boston downed Washington 7-4 and Oakland defeated California 5-2.

In the National League, St. Louis nipped New York 3-2 in 11 innings, Atlanta outlasted Pittsburgh 8-7 in 11, Philadelphia edged Cincinnati 4-3, Chicago blanked Houston 2-0 and Los Angeles topped San Francisco 3-2.

The Orioles, who had cut the Tigers' lead to four games in the middle of last week before dropping two straight to Washington, have 25 games left to play—the same number as the Tigers.

Should Detroit play break-even baseball and win 13, the Orioles would have to win 20 of 25 to catch the Tigers.

McLain, 27-5, was rocked early and led 4-3 after the Orioles had scored a run on a walk and singles by Curt Blefary and Frank Robinson in the third.

Boog Powell slammed a wicked liner back at the pitcher, and McLain caught it belt high. He whirled and fired to shortstop Tom Matchick, catching Blefary for the second out, and Matchick's throw to first baseman Norm Cash got Robinson and retired the side.

McLain, who struck out nine, pitched a seven-hitter and became the first American League pitcher to win 27 games since Detroit's Paul Trout and Hal Newhouser did it in 1944.

Jim Northrup and Mickey Stanley led the Tiger attack with three hits apiece.

Bobby Cox drove in three runs, helping the Yankees beat Cleveland and climb back to the .500 level.

Cox singled one run across in the third and then keyed a four-run Yankee rally with a two-run single in the sixth, as Joe Varbanic squared his record at 5-5.

The sixth place Yankees remained one game back of Oakland, which whipped California with the help of two-run home runs by Reggie Jackson and Sal Bando.

Mike Andrews and Carl Yastrzemski drove in three runs apiece, leading Boston past Washington. Andrews, who opened the game with a first-pitch double against loser Camilo Pascual, rapped a three-run homer in the third.

Yastrzemski hit his 17th home run and a two-run single. Brant Aleya and Bernie Allen had two-run homers in the ninth for the Senators.

The White Sox bunched six singles and a walk for five runs in the fourth inning and then held on to beat the Twins, Sandy Alomar singled and Pete Ward walked before consecutive hits by Duane Josephson, Tommy Davis, Tom McCraw, Buddy Bradford and Ken Berry gave the Sox all their runs.

44 Entered in Speedway in Carolina

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Charlie Grotzbach, looking for his first NASCAR victory, and Cale Yarborough, seeking an unprecedented fourth major speedway triumph, led a field of 44 stock racing cars today in the 19th Southern 500-mile event.

Raceway officials anticipated a crowd of 65,000 for the South's oldest event for big bore Grand National racing machines.

Mild temperatures and overcast skies were forecast for the day.

Grid Season Opens Here on Friday

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Two and a half weeks of practicing now behind, the Hope Bobcats look forward eagerly to next Friday night and the long-celebrated season opener at Hammons Stadium with the Ashdown Panthers of District 7-A.

Several Bobcats have suffered slight injuries over the last two days of workouts, but none are being considered serious enough to miss any practices.

Tuesday marks the first regular school day of the '68-'69. Word comes from Prescott that the Curley Wolves had their intra-squad game Friday night. Early reports on the 7-A favorites indicated a lack of depth in the line, and the possibility exists that Coach Charles Montgomery will try to platoon with underclassmen as much as possible.

Last year the Curley Wolves had Nashville down 7-0 after three quarters in the game that virtually clinched the title for the Scrappers. Prescott had more or less dominated the game to that point with a rock-solid defense, but nine boys were going both ways. Eventually they tired the final segment, and the Scrappers' passes and wide sweeps combined with a fresh defensive unit to give Nashville the game 21-7.

A look at the 4-AA standings over the last few years show a definite trend in two-year periods. After the Camden Panthers ruled the roost early in the decade, the Bobcats took over in '63 and defended the championship successfully in 1964.

Now it was Crossett's turn, and John Pierce guided the Eagles to back-to-back titles in '65 and '66, including one state Class AA championship. Fairview took over last year by beating down Mulvern, and enter 1968 hoping for history to repeat itself. Maybe it won't.

Stram Happy Raiders Are Selected

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) — If Hank Stram can get any consolation from Kansas City's tumble from the top of the American Football League, it's the thought that maybe football people will quit saying Stram is the best personnel in the league.

Even before the Chiefs won the AFL title in 1966, there were those who insisted they had the best personnel but just couldn't do anything with it. Of course, when Kansas City won the championship, it was only something that had been expected.

The Oakland Raiders changed all that last year, though, when they dumped the Chiefs into second place in the Western Division. Now people say the Raiders have the best personnel, and Stram is only too glad to let them have the distinction.

He's got problems with his own personnel.

The problems revolve around the numerous changes and vacancies Stram has created. In all, six starters from last year's 9-5 team are gone and two are Sherrill Headrick, safety Bobby Hunt and guard Al Reynolds went to Cincinnati in the expansion draft, center Jon Gilliam retired because of a bad knee and cornerback Fred Williamson was released.

E. J. Holub has switched from linebacker to center, and Chuck Hurston has moved from defensive end to linebacker.

Chances are Stram will come out all right with his new lineup although whether the Chiefs will be strong enough to bump the Raiders is another story.

At split end, the Chiefs have Frank Pitts and Gloster Richman while at guard Curt Merz is a strong replacement with rookie Mo Moorman backing up.

Stram is very impressed with

SWEATY CHANGE—It was a different kind of sweat for Dick Williams last season. The Boston Red Sox manager was leading his club to the 1967 American League pennant in a tight race. This year, however, the Red Sox are virtually out of championship contention. Now, the sweat is confined to pitching batting practice. The anguish has changed from mental to physical.

Coach Has Hopes for the Tigers

By LINDA B. WILLIAMS
Yerger Sports Writer

Sleeping season is over for the Tigers. They have slept for a total of three months, now it's time to roar once more.

Coach Tate, has high hopes for the team this season. The team is mostly composed of veterans, with the exception of about 10 new-comers.

I was out watching the Tigers yesterday during their building stage. They have everything a winning team needs, weight, speed, ambition, team-work and ability. With all this they shouldn't lose a game. Yerger should be proud. They have all the power of quarterbacking in Block, and Roger Newton. Newton is a new-comer to the Tiger squad.

But the Tigers realize that having the best quarterback in the state requires harder ball playing, and lots of rugged team work.

The Tigers will not be making a bag full of promises this year, but this one that comes easy. "We the Tigers! Promise to give to you fans, all we have, and the best of that we have."

I'll give this to the boys. They have the right attitude for a championship team. With such tremendous ball playing that the Tigers will be doing, I owe them my support, and so do you.

The roar this season for the Tigers will be "Fight with all our might, play the game just right, and win all the games at night." The colors for the season will be gold and blue uniforms.

Ready for this! First game comes to the Tigers Sept. 6, when they will play Lewisville.

Holub is fighting for the job at center with Mike Hudock and Wayne Frazier. Hurston is running behind Bud Abell at right linebacker and Aaron Brown and Gene Trosch are battling for Hurston's end spot.

The cornerback spot is still a little fuzzy. Veteran Willie Mitchell has been bothered by a pulled hamstring but is expected to be ready to start the season next Monday. That leaves Emmitt Thomas and Goldie Sellers working at the other corner.

Sellers came to the Chiefs this year from Denver with fullback Wendell Hayes, who has been seeing some action because Curtis McClintock has been out with a fractured cheekbone.

The other five defensive positions are about as solid as a coach could want.

Jerry Mays is at the other end, Ernie Ladd and Buck Buchanan at the tackles, Bobby Bell at left linebacker and Johnny Robinson at safety, Buchanan, Bell and Robinson made the all-league team in 1967.

Another all-leaguer was half-back Mike Garrett, an integral part of the Chiefs' explosive offense. Garrett gained 1,087 yards on the ground and added 261 more with 46 pass catches, making him one of the most versatile backs in the league. Quarterback Len Dawson is another important part of the attack. Last year Dawson had the best completion percentage in the league, 57.7, and was the second best passer overall.

His favorite target, as usual, was flanker Otis Taylor, who snared 59 passes, 11 of them for touchdowns.

Coach Seems Pleased With His Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas, preparing for its 1968 season opener with Oklahoma State, puts on pads for the first time this fall Tuesday following another set of two-day workouts in shorts today.

The Porkers drilled outdoors for the first time Saturday and Coach Frank Broyles said, "I think we accomplished a lot. The passing game looked good. I'm pleased with the way we are catching the ball, and all three quarterbacks looked good."

Arkansas' opening drill Friday was forced indoors because of rain.

Directing the first unit Saturday was Gordon Norwood, the fifth-year senior quarterback from Pine Bluff. Broyles said he foresaw no changes in personnel until Tuesday. Backing up Norwood were sophomore Bill Montgomery of Carrollton, Tex., and junior John Eichler of Stuttgart.

The Razorbacks had a 30-minute conditioning drill Sunday.

"We've tried to do everything you can do in the way of conditioning without pads," Broyles said. "We hope to have better execution when we put on pads."

Practice sessions this year will be closed to the public, he said.

McKinley Set for Trip to Australia

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — "Tell Captain Donald Bell I'm ready for another Davis Cup trip to Australia," an overweight but still bouncy Chuck McKinley said facetiously today as he faced Australia's John Newcombe in one of the featured third-round matches of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

McKinley, former Wimbledon champion and Davis Cup ace, displayed a lot of his oldtime fire and spirit in beating his ex-captain, Vic Seixas, 45, of Villanova, Pa., 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 in the second round Sunday.

Like Seixas, now more interested in selling stocks and bonds than winning tennis trophies, the hustling, hard-hitting McKinley is still capable of a top-notch performance. It could come today against Newcombe, 1967 champion here and seeded fourth.

Third-round matches were to be played in both men's and women's singles, and the heavily favored Rod Laver can expect a little bit of a rest after his close, five-set squeak Sunday.

The Wimbledon champion from Australia faces 47-year-old Pancho Segura, Not so Brazil's brilliant Tomas Koch, who won the first two sets and almost pulled off the tournament's major upset before losing to Laver 6-8, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

"I was fortunate," Laver admitted.

Another match to be watched with interest was to be that between 40-year-old Pancho Gonzales, the onetime king of the courts, and Australian pro Mal Anderson.

Other feature matches pitted America's two Davis cup stars, Arthur Ashe and Clark Graebner, against a pair of Britishers with upset glints in their eyes. Ashe, who polished off 52-year-old Frank Parker 6-3, 6-2, 6-2, faces Paul Hutchins,

Lassie Stakes Turns Out a Sure Shot

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The $12,500 supplementary nomination of Process Shot for the Arlington-Washington Lassie Stakes turned out to be a sure shot at a big-money pot for Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Werblin.

The Werblin-owned daughter of Restless Wind won the $187,500 race at Arlington Park last Saturday and became the leading contender for the 2-year-old filly championship.

Three-year-old fillies also were stakes active, in the $55,000 Gazelle Handicap at Aqueduct, and this race turned into a wire-to-wire triumph for Bruce A. Norris' Another Nell.

The Aqueduct at Aqueduct and the Benjamin F. Lindheimer Handicap at Arlington, both for 3-year-olds and up and both $100,000-added, and the A.H. American Futurity, the world's richest horse race, at Ruidoso Downs, N.M., highlighted today's holiday program.

Damascus was the heavy favorite in the Aqueduct, but the Lindheimer appeared to be a wide-open race.

A field of 10 quarter-horses was to sprint 400 yards for the $602,000 gross purse in the All-American Futurity.

Process Shot, supplemented for more than her purchase price—she was bought as a yearling for $11,556—ran the 6 1/2 furlongs of the Lassie in 1:17 2/5.

Chuck Baltazar sent her into the lead at the top of the stretch, and she drew out for a two-length victory over Kahoolawe, a 16-1 shot, with second-choice Lynne's Orphan third and Marriage Day fourth.

In posting her sixth victory in seven starts, four of them stakes, the favored Process Shot returned a winning mutual of $4.20 and boosted her earnings to $133,504 with the first money of $80,000.

Craig Perret broke the speedy Another Nell on top in the 1 1/2-mile Gazelle, and she stayed their for a 1 1/2-length victory over Meadow Stable's late-charging Gay Matelda, with Pattee Canyon third. The time was 1:50 4-5.

Another Nell's fifth stakes victory was worth $36,400 and increased her career bankroll to $168,669.

The 19-year-old sophomore at Miami Dade North Junior College, competing in his first National, played the rugged Scioto Country Club course like a veteran pro Saturday.

He refused to buckle under the late charge of Marvin "Vinny" Giles and calmly parried the last three holes for an even par 70 and a 72-hole total of 284.

His score was four-over par and one stroke better than the total posted by Giles, who created the biggest stir at the tournament with a sizzling five-under 65 Saturday.

It was a course record on the 6,762-yard layout but not quite enough for the red-haired 25-year-old University of Virginia law student who lost the Amateur for the second straight year by one stroke.

It was the first major victory for the 6-foot-3, 187-pound Fleisher who started caddying in Wilmington, N.C., at age 7 and started playing a year later. He had rounds of 73, 70, 71 and 70.

Desert Proves No Obstacle to Student

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Charlie Hickcox hails from the desert country, but he does just about everything on water.

The 6-foot-3 1/2 prelaw student at Indiana University has won three events in the U.S. men's Olympic swimming trials, including a pair of world record clockings.

Today, he tackles his fourth race, the 200-meter backstroke and the 21-year-old from Phoenix, Ariz., rates as the favorite again.

The next to last day of the competition at Belmont Plaza Pool also sees Don Schollander, the quadruple gold medal winner of the 1964 Olympic Games, seek his second freestyle world record here as he swims the 100 meters.

Schollander won the 200 on Friday night in 1:54.3 to better his own world record.

Hickcox clocked 4 minutes, 39 seconds for the 400-meter individual medley and 2:10.6 for the 200 medley on successive nights and on the third won the 100-meter backstroke in 59.7. That fell short of his own American record of 59.1 and the world standard of 58.4 by Roland Matthes of East Germany.

Brian Job, at 16, became the youngest member on the team when he won the 200-meter breaststroke Sunday night in 2:28.95. Mark Spitz of Santa Clara, Calif., captured the 200 butterfly in 2:05.84.

Job's home is Cortland, Ohio, but he's been living and training at Santa Clara, Calif., the past year. George Haines is swim coach there and also head coach of the U.S. Olympic men's team.

Spitz, 18, holds one of the four world records set here already. He won the 100-meter butterfly in 55.6 and then came back to make it two victories by winning the 200.

Two 17-year-olds trailed Hickcox in the backstroke to win places on the squad as the first three in each event qualify. Ronnie Mills of Fort Worth, Tex., placed second in 1:00.3. Larry Barbieri of Medford Lakes, N.J., a member of the Philadelphia Vesper Boat Club team, took third at 1:00.7.

Ken Merten of Los Angeles, who qualified in the 100 breaststroke, also made it in the 200 with 2:29.97. Third was Phil Long of Newtown Square, Pa., 2:30.57.

Nevele Pride Winner at Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Stanley Dancer resorted to pain-killing medicine again today after driving Hambletonian winner Nevele Pride to a world record for 3-year-old trotters.

Dancer, who over-all won six of nine races at the Indiana State Fair Saturday, said he was in severe pain from a spill last Thursday at the New York State Fair at Syracuse.

The New Egypt, N.J., driver-trainer-owner said he suffered torn ligaments in his left ankle, cut open the skin on his right hip and injured his lower back. He said a horse fell in front of him as he was driving Champ Rainbow, a 3-year-old pacer.

Dancer, 41, said he had been full of pain-killers since the accident but he said he didn't take anything before racing Nevele Pride to the record 1:36 3-5 in the second heat of the Horseman Futurity.

The effort broke the mark of 1:56 4-5 set by Speedy Scot in 1963 and matched by Ayres in 1964. The time was close to the 1:55 1/4 set by Greyhound in a 1938 time trial and the 1:55 3-5 set by Dancer with Noble Victory in a 1966 race.

El Dorado Man Leading Tournament

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Steady Tony Peterson of El Dorado enters today's final round of the Oil Belt golf tournament at the El Dorado Country Club with a one stroke lead over Harry Lewis of El Dorado, the defending champion.

Peterson shot a one-under-par 70 Sunday to move past Lewis and Tom Raney of Little Rock, the leader the first two days. Peterson matched par the first two rounds for a 212 total. Lewis shot a 73 Sunday for a 213 score. Raney, who opened with rounds of 68-70, skied to a 76 Sunday and is two shots back of Peterson.

Tom McNair of Fayetteville and Edgar Odum of El Dorado are tied for fourth at 215 entering the final round. McNair had a 70 and Odum a 71 Sunday.

Toxie Bourne of Haynesville, La., appeared to be the only player with a shot at the title. He shot a 74 Sunday for a 218 total.

Thaumaturgy is the technical name for doing magic tricks.

Hulme Takes Initial Lap in Auto Race

ELKHART LAKE, Wis. (AP) — New Zealander Denis Hulme grabbed what looked like an easy victory in the initial 200-mile race of the Canadian-American Cup series Sunday, but revealed he couldn't have lasted more than another lap.

"I had fouled spark plugs in the final five laps," Hulme said. "And I had no oil pressure at the end."

He said he knew where opposition was, and consequently "I had no need to hurry. I would have tried another lap. I would have found some oil somewhere."

Hulme limped across the finish line in a comparatively slow time of 2:06.56 for an average speed of 94.54 miles per hour. On a dry track during Saturday's qualifying heat, Hulme's teammate, Bruce McLaren, had turned the four-mile course in 1:10.854 m.p.h.

McLaren finished second Sunday, 39 seconds behind Hulme. Both were driving orange-hued McLaren MK8s. It was the second straight year the New Zealand drivers finished one-two in the Road America Race.

Oswald: "Old duplicate players never die. They just take up rubber bridge."

Jim: "The reverse also holds true. Old rubber bridge players take up duplicate. I suppose you are going to produce a hand played by one of your old friends."

Oswald: "Right as usual. Back in the '30s, Sam Fry Jr. of New York won the Vanderbilt and Spingold Cups in addition to almost everything else in sight. Today he confines his play to rubber bridge at New York's Regency Whist Club. His bidding is rather old-fashioned but his dummy play remains very, very good. His strong point in the old days was a vivid imagination that enabled him to work out winning plays which others would never visualize. In today's hand West opened the king of clubs and shifted to the seven of hearts."

Jim: "It would have been much nicer if West had continued clubs, but then you would have no story. Also, I see that four hearts was a far better contract but you can't blame Mr. Fry for missing the heart game. North really should have bid three hearts over South's three diamonds."

Oswald: "Sam played dummy's king of hearts and East dropped the nine. East might have been fooling but Sam did not think so and decided to guard against the actual East-West holdings. He ruffed a club in his own hand and led a diamond to dummy's king. Then he cashed the ace of diamonds and saw that West would make a trump trick. He led and ruffed a third club, cashed his king of spades, led a heart to dummy's ace, ruffed the last club and threw West in with the queen of trumps."

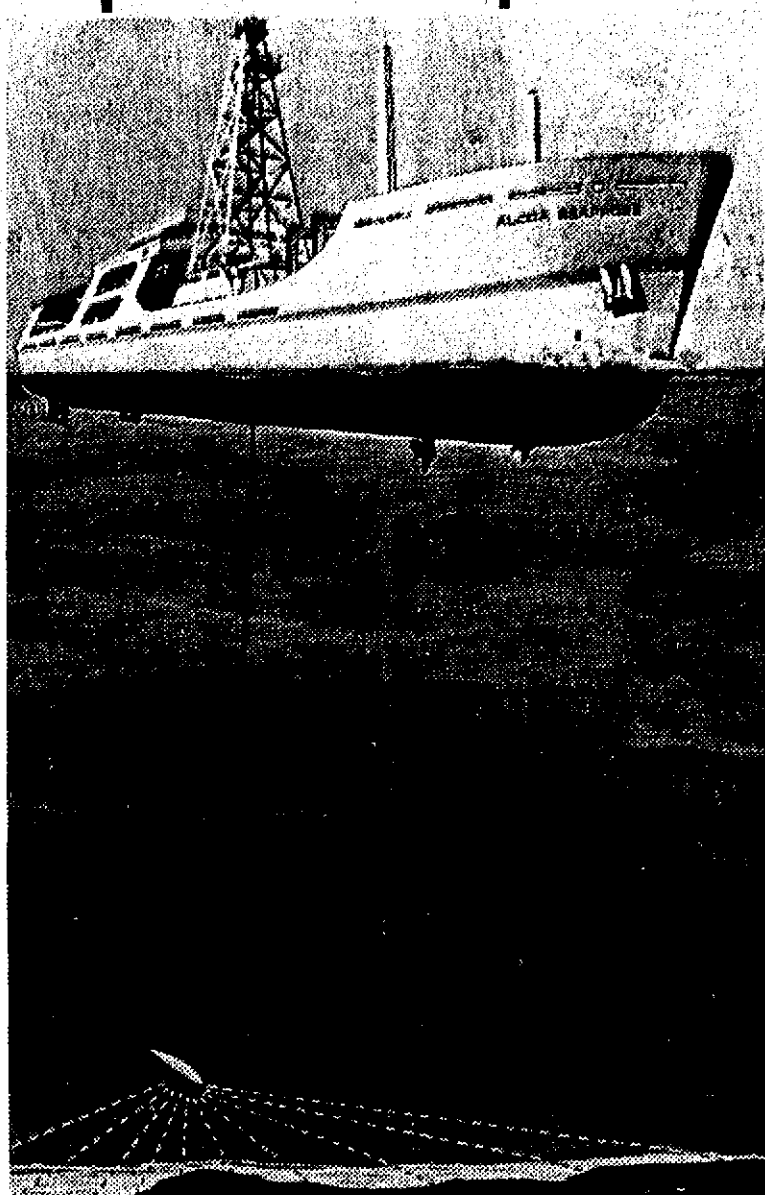

Jim: "Very nice. West was forced to lead a spade whereupon Mr. Fry was able to finesse against the queen and discard both his losing hearts."

Special Ships to Search Sea

Ocean depths unexplored since the beginning of time will soon come within man's reach if plans for new oceanographic research vessels materialize. Here are artist's sketches of three proposed ships designed to probe the ocean's floor. The all-aluminum Alcoa Seaprobe, left, is reportedly the most advanced craft of its type ever to come off the drawing board. The 244-foot, 2,000-ton vessel will possess the capacity to remain almost stationary above a target on the bottom of the sea and then to lower a string of pipe which will support and power drilling equipment or search and recovery gear. Objects 6,000 feet down and weighing as much as 200 tons are said to be within the recovery capabilities of the unique ship. At top right, an Autec research submarine is seen at work. Tools would be selected from an external compartment. In an emergency, the three-man crew could separate the front section of the craft and float to the surface. Two of these subs are nearing completion for delivery to the Navy. Another new Navy oceanographic research ship, bottom right, is the T-AGOR-16, using a catamaran hull designed to provide a stable working platform with large areas for scientific use. The space devoted to laboratories and scientific stores will be more than twice that of previous research ships.

MEDICAL HISTORY was made when John Meyer, 71, received a metal ball and socket to replace a hip joint destroyed by arthritis. The surgery, performed at a St. Petersburg, Fla., hospital, was the first of its kind ever attempted in the United States. Meyer reportedly will soon discard the crutches and be able to walk normally again.

SHORT RIBS

THE WELL CHILD® Allergy Identification Needed for Treatment

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

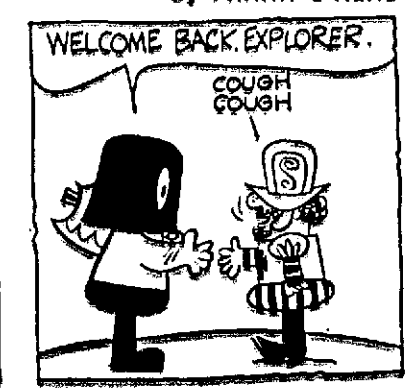

A mother writes that her daughter, 12, has recurring bouts of allergy. For three years she has been getting desensitization shots but her spells have not decreased. In treating any allergy the main reliance must be placed on an accurate identification of the offending allergen, then avoiding it if possible. Desensitization usually helps if graduated dilutions of the allergen are used. Failing this, antihistamines must be used as needed for temporary relief.

Q—My son, 10, had a penicillin shot. Four days later he had a severe case of hives. The doctor said it was a delayed reaction to the penicillin. Now every time he goes outdoors when the weather is cold he breaks out in hives. Our pediatrician says he is allergic to cold. Is this possible? Is there any cure for this?

A—Exposure to cold gives many persons watery eyes, a running nose and sneezing, which may or may not be an allergic reaction. In a few persons this reaction may be greatly exaggerated or, like your son, they may develop hives. Such persons are treated by avoiding exposure to cold, large doses of antihistamines and by desensitization through very gradually increased exposures to cold, keeping the exposure just below the amount known to cause a reaction.

Q—Our daughter, 7, suffers from chronic bronchitis and is generally run down. The doctor says that we must make her eat but she eats less each day. She will not eat vegetables or fruit at all. Can you suggest a tonic or other treatment to get her to eat?

A—I doubt that you can make your daughter eat and any attempts to do so will only make her worse. All children do not need the same kind or amount of food and many a child with a feeding problem has straightened out when allowed to choose her own diet without any interference from her parents. As long as she drinks a lot of milk she won't starve. Offer her an ounce or two of orange or tomato juice but don't make a point of her taking it.

The best tonic for your daughter is a happy home atmosphere, some outdoor exercise every day, girls her own age to play with and plenty of restful sleep. If her failure to eat is due to an emotional problem, she may need the help of a child psychologist.
